Working Group on Children and Armed Conflict

Conclusions on children and armed conflict in Nepal

1. At its 7th meeting, on 9 February 2007, the Working Group examined a report of the Secretary-General on children and armed conflict in Nepal (S/2006/1007) introduced by his Special Representative. The Permanent Representative of Nepal to the United Nations participated in the subsequent discussion.

2. The main elements of the exchange of views among the members of the Working Group are summarized below.

3. Members welcomed the submission of the report pursuant to Security Council resolution 1612 (2005) and the recommendations contained therein.

4. Grave concern was expressed that the recruitment and use, as well as the abduction, of children by the Communist Party of Nepal (Maoist), or CPN (M), had continued even after the signing of the Comprehensive Peace Agreement by the Government of Nepal and CPN (M) on 21 November 2006.

5. Particular concern was expressed regarding the situation of the girl child, since in the most recent recruitments some 40 per cent of the new recruits appeared to be girls.

6. Measures to combat impunity were essential. In this regard, some Member States mentioned the need to bring to account those responsible for the torture and death of Maina Sunawar. The responsibility of the Government to tackle such an issue was underlined.

8. The role of the donor community was critical in supporting civil society, peace transitions and capacity-building for child reintegration programmes.

9. The commitments of the parties to the Comprehensive Peace Agreement to pay special attention to the needs of children and to release and reintegrate those associated with armed groups, as well as their cooperation with the United Nations Children’s Fund (UNICEF), the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) and the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR), were commended.

10. The cooperation of the Government of Nepal with the Working Group and the Office of the Special Representative, and in particular its intention to invite the Special Representative to visit Nepal in May 2007, was welcomed.

11. It was noted that the recommendations of the Working Group were expected to advance the peace process in Nepal.

12. The Permanent Representative of Nepal underlined that most of the reported violations tended to relate to the situation in Nepal before the conclusion of the Comprehensive Peace Agreement. He mentioned that his Government generally favoured recommendations to include provisions for the protection of children in all steps of the peace process, to immediately end the practice of recruiting and using children, to reintegrate the children back into their families, to free schools and hospitals from any activity that hampered the welfare of the children, to reform the juvenile justice system, to provide unimpeded access to all human rights and humanitarian personnel working for children and to increase cooperation and coordination with United Nations and other agencies for the welfare of children affected by the armed conflict in Nepal. He underlined the recent agreement between CPN (M) and the United Nations Mission in Nepal (UNMIN) that no children under the age of 18 would be registered as soldiers during the process of cantonment of CPN (M) combatants and stressed the importance of aligning the Working Group’s recommendations with the peace process.

13. Members of the Working Group underlined that the case of children and armed conflict in Nepal was the first situation considered by the Working Group on the basis of annex II to the report of the Secretary-General submitted pursuant to Security Council resolution 1612 (2005) (A/61/529-S/2006/826 and Corr.1) and that addressing it appropriately would enhance the work of the Working Group.

14. Further to the meeting and consistent with applicable international law and relevant Security Council resolutions, including resolution 1612 (2005), the Working Group agreed to the following.

Recommendation to the Security Council

15. The Working Group agreed to recommend that the President of the Security Council address a letter:
