Enclosure

Third progress report of the Chairperson of the African Union Commission on the implementation of the mandate of the African Union Mission in Somalia pursuant to paragraph 21 of Security Council resolution 2036 (2012)

[Original: English]

I. Introduction

1. The present report is submitted pursuant to paragraph 21 of Security Council resolution 2036 (2012). In that resolution, the Council requested the African Union to keep it regularly informed, through the Secretary-General, on the implementation of the mandate of the African Union Mission in Somalia (AMISOM) and progress made with regard to establishing an AMISOM presence in the four Sectors set out in the Mission's Strategic Concept of 5 January 2012; increasing the force strength of AMISOM from 12,000 to a maximum of 17,731 uniformed personnel, composed of troops and personnel of formed police units; as well as enhancing the effectiveness of the Somali National Security Forces. In compliance with this request, I have already submitted two progress reports to the Council, on 20 March (see S/2012/176, enclosure) and 1 June 2012 (see S/2012/468, enclosure), respectively.

2. This third progress report provides an update on the main political and security developments during the period under review. It also covers the deployment of AMISOM and related command and control issues, as well as the Mission and African Union overall efforts in support of the ongoing processes in Somalia. The report concludes with observations on the way forward.

II. Key political developments

3. My previous report was submitted against the backdrop of significant progress in the political process. In this respect, the Council will recall that, at the meeting of the principal signatories of the political road map, held in Addis Ababa from 21 to 23 May 2012, a number of steps were agreed upon to expedite the completion of the transition. These included the adoption, by 20 July, of the provisional Somali Constitution by the National Constituent Assembly; the selection of the new Somali Parliament on 25 July; the election of the Speaker and the Deputy Speakers of the Parliament on 4 August; and the election of the President, on 20 August. Consequently, at its nineteenth ordinary session, held in Addis Ababa from 15 to 16 July, the Assembly of the African Union expressed satisfaction at the progress made in the peace and reconciliation process in Somalia. It urged the Somali stakeholders to pursue and intensify their efforts, in order to effectively conclude the transition on 20 August, as scheduled. At the same time, the Assembly reiterated the African Union's determination to take measures against all those whose actions are undermining the peace and reconciliation process.

4. During the reporting period, the Somali stakeholders made further progress in addressing the outstanding transitional tasks. Following weeks of deliberations in Mogadishu, the 135 traditional elders drawn from across Somalia nominated, from their respective clans, the 825 members of the National Constituent Assembly. On 25 July, the Assembly convened in Mogadishu to discuss the provisional Constitution. On 1 August, it adopted the new constitution, which will replace the eight-year-old Transitional Federal Charter. Undoubtedly, this is a milestone in the efforts to usher in a new political dispensation for Somalia in August. The next steps will include the formation of a new Parliament with 275 members which will, in turn, elect its Speaker and Deputy Speakers on 6 August and the President on 20 August. There is a significant possibility that some of the timelines may not be met owing to delays in submitting the list of the selected future legislators to the Technical Selection Committee, for vetting purposes.

5. Throughout the period under consideration, my Special Representative for Somalia, Boubacar Gaoussou Diarra, remained actively engaged with the signatories of the political road map and other Somali stakeholders, working in partnership with the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Somalia and the Intergovernmental Authority on Development (IGAD) Facilitator for Somalia Peace and National Reconciliation. Furthermore, pursuant to its mandate, AMISOM took steps to facilitate the conference of the elders by securing the venue of the National Constituent Assembly, and participated as an international observer in the Technical Selection Committee.

III. Security situation

6. The overall security situation across south central Somalia continued to improve, in the past two months, owing to the multi-pronged operations carried out by the National Security Forces and their allies, with the support of AMISOM and the Ethiopian National Defence Forces. While the efforts made significantly weakened Al-Shabaab, the group nonetheless retains the ability to strike, as demonstrated by the ever-persistent threat of improvised explosive devices, assassinations and suicide attacks. It also continues to receive some support, including funds and ammunition, from the areas it still controls and from elements in the diaspora and certain foreign networks.

7. As indicated in my previous progress report, owing to pressure from AMISOM and allies, and also as a tactic to preserve its resources for a long terror campaign, Al-Shabaab is now withdrawing from the major cities and going underground by melting into clans and establishing new hideouts. In recent months, as a result of the pressure exerted on it in south central Somalia, Al-Shabaab has attempted to establish new bases in the northern Golis Mountains, an ideal hideout with its caves, forested areas and access to the coast, and in some parts of the Togdheer region, in Somaliland. I am concerned about this situation, especially as the number of terrorist elements in the Golis Mountains is likely to grow, owing to infiltration from south central Somalia and access through the coast from Yemen. This includes Somalis radicalized in Yemen who are disguised as returnees to Puntland.

8. In Sector 1 (Lower and Middle Shabelle), following the capture of the strategic town of Afgoye and of the Afgoye corridor, which hosts a large number of internally displaced persons, the Somali and AMISOM forces secured the Esaley airstrip and the Elma'an port, both over 37 kms north-east of Mogadishu. On 26 June, they took control of the strategic northern town of Balaad. The Transitional Federal Government and AMISOM troops are now gradually expanding towards Jowhar, Marka and Baraawe. It is important to note that there has been an increase in the number of ambushes against AMISOM convoys in this Sector, particularly along the Afgoye road, owing to stretched lines of communication. There are also strong indications that Al-Shabaab is planning to step up attacks along AMISOM supply routes.

9. In Sector 2 (Lower and Middle Juba), AMISOM and the Somali allied forces control most of Lower Juba. This covers Afmadow, Badhaade, Burgabo, Doble, Hayo, Kolbio, Kuday, Qoqani, Ras Kamboni and Tabta. Following the capture of Afmadow, the Transitional Federal Government and AMISOM are consolidating their control of the liberated areas, which continue to witness sporadic attacks by Al-Shabaab elements. The following major towns are still in the hands of Al-Shabaab: Bibi, Bu'aale, Jamaa, Jilib and Kismayo. At the time of writing, preparations were under way to expand military operations to these areas.

10. In Sector 3 (Gedo, Bay and Bakool), there were significant advances by the Somali forces and the Ethiopian National Defence Forces. As indicated in my previous report, almost all of Gedo, Bay and Bakool have been liberated, with the exception of the Dinsor district, in Bay, and Tayeeglow district and some parts of Wajid, in the Bakool region. Recently, Al-Shabaab attempted to infiltrate small cells in liberated towns, to carry out assassinations and attacks with improvised explosive devices and grenades.

11. In Sector 4 (Galgadud and Hiraan), the situation remains tense in Beletweyne, owing to long-simmering tensions among the Hawiye subclans of the Hawadle and Galjel clans. Although Al-Shabaab has been pushed out of the city, some of its elements remain concentrated around Bulo-Burte and continue to take advantage of the disputes among the various clans.

12. While progress continues to be made on the ground, disciplinary issues among the Somali forces still pose a serious challenge. Thefts and shoot-outs among Somali soldiers are becoming more frequent; AMISOM is working with the National Security Forces to improve discipline within its ranks. There are also an estimated 3,000 disengaged former combatants (combatants who demobilize, renounce violent opposition to the Government and seek a return to civilian life), but there are no resources available to cater for their needs. Some of the middle-level Al-Shabaab commanders who have surrendered are considered to be at high risk of reprisals. AMISOM continues consultations with relevant stakeholders to build consensus on how best to address this issue.

IV. Deployment of the African Union Mission in Somalia

13. The period under review was marked by significant progress in the deployment of AMISOM and the establishment of its presence in other Sectors outside Mogadishu. At the time of writing, the total number of AMISOM uniformed personnel stood at 17,194, including 91 individual police officers and the recently deployed formed police units from Uganda.

14. The redeployment of 1,000 Burundi troops from Mogadishu to Baidoa started on 23 July and is expected to be completed by 6 August. These troops will join the 120 military personnel from Uganda and Burundi deployed in Sector 3 since April 2012 as an advance party. This operation is not without its logistical challenges.

Nevertheless, commendable effort was made jointly by AMISOM and the United Nations Support Office for the African Union Mission in Somalia (UNSOA) to ensure that the major equipment and initial sustainment package are in place and that the expanded support package will continue to be delivered as the security situation allows. Steps are being taken to redeploy 1,500 Ugandan troops from Mogadishu to Sector 3.

15. I am pleased to note that UNSOA has completed the pre-positioning of essential equipment for Sector 3 by road, via Kenya and Ethiopia. The third convoy transporting major equipment, rations, tents and general supplies arrived at the Ethiopian border town of Dollow in mid-June, before reaching Baidoa on 9 July. UNSOA has also secured additional commercial cargo aircraft to increase its capability to deliver supplies by air into Baidoa and Beletweyne. These aircraft have already delivered water purification and air traffic control equipment, tents, fuel and other essential supply items to the advance team in Baidoa. UNSOA has installed facilities in Baidoa for a Sector headquarters, a level I hospital and a communications system. It is also taking the necessary steps regarding the provision of medical equipment, drugs and consumables, so that the planned medical facility can be operationalized as soon as possible. In the interim, logistical support arrangements for Sectors 3 and 4 are being formalized through a letter of assist between the United Nations and the Government of Ethiopia, which is expected to provide security, engineering and transportation support in the two Sectors.

16. On 2 June, the African Union Commission and the Government of Kenya signed a memorandum of understanding governing Kenya's military personnel contribution to AMISOM, whose strength is 4,660. In the memorandum of understanding, it was specified that the date of entry into force would be 22 February 2012, when the Security Council adopted resolution 2036 (2012), for the purposes of reimbursement for personnel and contingent-owned equipment. On 6 July, my Special Representative for Somalia presided over a rehatting ceremony at the Kenya Defence Forces headquarters in Nairobi, in order to symbolically welcome the Kenya Defence Forces contingent into the AMISOM family. The Kenya Defence Forces conducted a rotation of troops at the end of June. From 28 June to 14 July, and as per AMISOM procedures, the African Union and UNSOA carried out a verification exercise of the incoming troops and electronically collected the personnel data of each peacekeeper. A second phase is planned to verify the number of troops that will rotate out of the Mission area when the relief of the outgoing troops is completed.

17. On 13 July, in Addis Ababa, the Commission and the Government of Djibouti signed a memorandum of understanding governing the 1,000 strength Djiboutian contribution to AMISOM. As the Security Council is aware, a platoon-size advance element (35 military personnel) was deployed in Beletweyne, on 31 May. The deployment of the main body of the contingent to Sector 4 (Beletweyne), which should have been completed in mid-June, will be finalized soon.

18. The African Union and UNSOA, in consultation with the troop-contributing countries, have prepared letters of assist regarding the deployment of air assets. A letter of assist with the Government of Uganda was signed on 2 August, but the one with the Government of Kenya has yet to be signed. Pending the signature of the letter of assist with the Government of Uganda, a letter of intent relating to the deployment of three attack and two utility helicopters was drawn up. The process for the deployment of these helicopters is under way; the advance party of air personnel arrived in Mogadishu on 2 August. The deployment should be completed by mid-August, including the construction of a heliport and other necessary facilities. The deployment of these force enablers is critical for operational as well as logistical support, specifically medical evacuation. I welcome the decision by the Security Council, in response to the letters I sent to the Secretary-General, on 25 June and 6 July, to authorize some flexibility in the configuration of attack and utility helicopters, in support of AMISOM operations.

19. Regarding the police component of AMISOM, 91 individual police officers have been deployed in Mogadishu. This is expected to increase to 180 by the end of September, while the full strength of 260 individual police officers provided for in the Strategic Concept will be reached in November. A total of 813 individual police officers, who were assessed and selected in the five AMISOM police-contributing countries (Ghana, Kenya, Nigeria, Sierra Leone and Uganda), have been rostered for future deployment to Somalia. The police roll-out plan to Sectors 2, 3 and 4 has been developed, and a technical assessment mission has already been conducted in Sector 2, in Baidoa. During the period under review, the AMISOM police component undertook a number of activities, including refurbishing some buildings of the Somali Police Force; assisting the Somali Police Force in establishing a Joint Operations Coordinating Centre at its headquarters, which will be operated by AMISOM and Somali police officers on a 24-hour basis to coordinate joint patrols in Mogadishu; deploying a team site at the Aden Abdulle International Airport; and various training activities, in particular the organization of a gender-based violence workshop in June, following which a gender unit was established within the Somali Police Force.

20. The Strategic Concept provides for the deployment of two formed police units. In this respect, and following verification exercises, the Commission signed a memorandum of understanding with Uganda on 29 June. The personnel and equipment of the Uganda formed police unit were fully deployed in Mogadishu on 2 August. This marks the first ever deployment of a formed police unit in an African Union-led peace support operation. The draft memorandum of understanding with Nigeria has been finalized and is expected to be signed shortly, while the actual deployment in Mogadishu is planned for the first week of September. Additional offers of formed police units have been received from the Governments of Burundi and Djibouti. The deployment of the formed police units is expected to enhance police visibility and interface with the ordinary Somali population, bolster public order and security, and reassure communities through robust joint patrols conducted by the formed police units, the individual police officers and the Somali Police Force in Mogadishu. The formed police units will also facilitate the enhancement of institutional capacity-building activities carried out by the AMISOM police component in support of the Somali Police Force, as well as the expansion of its operations to other liberated areas.

21. Lastly, with regard to the establishment of the Guard Force, the AMISOM Force Commander is working towards putting in place temporary arrangements. More specifically, the objective is to establish a unit to undertake the guard duties, pending the proper generation and full deployment, with the requisite equipment, of a designated unit, which will be part of AMISOM authorized strength and under the authority of the Force Commander.

V. Command and control

22. As previously reported, the Strategic Concept provides for the establishment of an effective command and control architecture at the strategic and operational levels. At the strategic level, there are two advisory structures assisting the Commission: (a) the Military Operations Coordination Committee, composed of the Chiefs of Defence Staff of the troop-contributing countries and other interested countries, which held its inaugural meeting in Addis Ababa on 9 March; and (b) the Joint Coordination Mechanism, comprising the Ministers of Defence of the troop-contributing countries and other interested countries, which held its inaugural meeting in Addis Ababa, on 12 April. To date, the Military Operations Coordination Committee has met five times. The plan for future operations was discussed at the 4th and 5th meetings, held in Addis Ababa, on 23 July and 2 August.

23. Following the approval of the command and control architecture for the expanded AMISOM operations and the allocation of posts for the Force headquarters among the troop-contributing countries and other African Union member States, 52 of the 85 staff officers, the Force Commander, the Deputy Force Commander for Plans and Operations and the Chief of Staff assumed their posts at the Force headquarters. An additional group of 18 staff officers were recently selected and will be deployed shortly. All Sector Commanders have been deployed, with the exception of the Commander of Sector 4, who will be in place once the deployment of the Djiboutian contingent is completed.

24. In addition, AMISOM and UNSOA have established a coordination mechanism to enhance the provision of the expanded support package to AMISOM. To that end, a joint task force comprising AMISOM and UNSOA officers meets weekly to follow up on pressing issues, and a senior management meeting, co-chaired by my Special Representative and the Director of UNSOA, is conducted on a monthly basis. These meetings are also supplemented by regular video teleconferences among Addis Ababa, Mogadishu and Nairobi.

VI. Protection of civilians

25. Efforts continue to be exerted to mainstream the protection of civilians into AMISOM operations and to strengthen coordination with the Somali authorities and other relevant civilian protection actors operating in southern Somalia. From 20 to 23 June, the Commission hosted a workshop on mainstreaming protection of civilians into AMISOM operations. The meeting assessed the progress made to date, based on current and new protection risks. It also outlined the best ways and means through which the Mission can coordinate its efforts with other actors, with a view to reducing the threat posed to the civilian population.

26. The Commission continued to work towards the establishment of a Civilian Casualty Tracking, Analysis and Response Cell, as outlined in Security Council resolution 2036 (2012). To that end, discussions are under way with all key stakeholders, building on the outcome of the scoping mission undertaken by a team from the non-governmental organization Campaign for Innocent Victims in Conflict (CIVIC) to Mogadishu, from 17 to 21 April. It should be recalled that, following that mission, recommendations were made regarding the preliminary framework for the establishment of the Civilian Casualty Tracking, Analysis and Response Cell. The team is planning to undertake another mission to Mogadishu, in September 2012.

VII. Support to the Somali security sector

27. It should be recalled that the Commission organized a series of workshops on the empowerment of the Somali security sector that led to the development of a concept of operations for the mechanisms to be put in place, in order to facilitate the effective integration of the regional and allied forces into the Somali National Security Forces and the establishment of a unified command and control architecture. Following its endorsement by the Somali authorities, the document will now be submitted to the African Union Peace and Security Council, before transmission to the Security Council. It is my expectation that the international community will provide the requested support, for it is critical to the achievements of sustainable peace and stability in Somalia.

28. Urgent international support is needed since the Somali forces have no dedicated logistical support, but instead rely mostly on assistance provided by the Kenya Defence Forces and the Ethiopian National Defence Forces. They do not have the capacity to sustain their deployed units. Critical needs in this respect include transport, repair and maintenance, food and water, light arms and ammunition, field accommodation, communications and pay (stipend). The Somali authorities are appealing for $127,180,550 (combat supplies, rations, stipends and logistics) to meet their immediate requirements for a 12-month period.

VIII. Other aspects of African Union support to Somalia

29. As the Security Council is aware, the humanitarian situation in Somalia remains a concern. At least 2.51 million people are in urgent need of aid and an additional 1.29 million are at risk of sliding back into crisis. The situation in the newly liberated areas requires the involvement of all the humanitarian actors. I urge the international community to step up its efforts to address the challenges at hand. On its part, AMISOM, within the available resources, is engaged in the implementation of quick-impact projects, such as the drilling of water wells, the treatment of the wounded and demining activities, in the newly liberated areas.

30. The livestock sector is the backbone of the livelihoods of the Somali people and is a source of revenue for local and central administrations. It generates 40 per cent of the gross domestic product (GDP) and 80 per cent of the country's foreign currency earnings. However, the sector is faced with many challenges that limit the potential socioeconomic benefits. These include insecurity, livestock diseases and drought, inability to comply with international standards that would sustain the safe export of livestock and livestock products, and inadequate human and infrastructural capacity. Sustainable livestock production and trade are critical components for economic recovery and a return to peace and stability in Somalia. Accordingly, since 2008, the African Union, through the Nairobi-based African Union-Inter-African Bureau for Animal Resources, which operates in partnership with the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO) and some international non-governmental organizations, has carried out a number of interventions to support the livestock sector in Somalia, with financial support from the European Union.

31. Through the project "Livestock emergency intervention to mitigate the food crisis in Somalia", the African Union-Inter-African Bureau for Animal Resources significantly contributed to an improvement in livestock marketing infrastructure facilities along the key livestock export marketing chain. A total of 134 livestock marketing structures comprising loading/off-loading ramps (53), market sheds (45), vaccination crushes (17), veterinary offices (3) and water troughs (16) were constructed. The project also contributed to improved disease control through the vaccination of 4.8 million sheep and goats against three major diseases and the treatment of 1.8 million animals for common diseases affecting the export trade in livestock.

32. To support compliance with international standards for livestock export, the African Union-Inter-African Bureau for Animal Resources implemented the Somali livestock certification project, through which 156 technical personnel were trained in skills necessary for quality assurance of livestock export trade. Support was also provided for routine animal health certification activities and the rehabilitation of animal health certification offices in Garowe, Las Geel and Mogadishu. In addition, a risk-based animal health certification system that combines market and quarantine inspection and certification was developed and endorsed by trading partners. More generally, the African Union-Inter-African Bureau for Animal Resources also facilitated the establishment of closer linkages between value chain actors from livestock exporting countries in the Horn of Africa (including Somalia) and those from the livestock importing countries in the Gulf Region. Lastly, the African Union-Inter-African Bureau for Animal Resources supports the participation of Somalia in processes relating to the establishment of animal health standards at the World Organization for Animal Health.

IX. Observations

33. The reporting period witnessed significant progress on all tracks. The convening of the elders' conference and the National Constituent Assembly, particularly the adoption of the provisional Constitution, are important steps towards the achievement of the objectives of the transition. The overall security situation continues to improve, as AMISOM and the Transitional Federal Government gradually expand their control to areas outside Mogadishu. Significant progress was also made towards the achievement of key operational benchmarks relating to AMISOM deployment and presence in the various Sectors. Lastly, while the Guard Force is yet to be formally established, interim arrangements were made to provide guard duties within existing resources and capabilities. However, a number of challenges remain at the political, security, operational and peace consolidation levels.

34. As I submit this report, fewer than three weeks remain before the conclusion of the transitional period. The weeks ahead present an unprecedented opportunity for Somalia. The Somali people must seize this unique window of opportunity to successfully bring the seven-year-long transition to an end. They must capitalize on the security gains made by the Somali security forces, their allies and AMISOM, to further security, peace, reconciliation and prosperity. The process must remain transparent and credible. I therefore urge all Somalis, especially the political leadership, the traditional and religious leaders and civil society, to demonstrate the required maturity, commitment and spirit of reconciliation to rise to the challenges at hand.

35. As we enter a new political dispensation, with heightened expectations, I would like to reiterate the urgent and critical need to stabilize the areas liberated by the Somali security forces and AMISOM. Efforts in this respect should include the establishment of inclusive local governance structures, the promotion of reconciliation and the delivery of basic services. While the Somali authorities have a central role to play in this regard, they can succeed only if they enjoy the full support of the international community.

36. The African Union will continue to support the Somalis in their efforts. In the weeks ahead, particular attention will be devoted to achieving the remaining operational benchmarks for AMISOM, particularly as regards the full staffing and operationalization of its Force headquarters, the attainment of its authorized strength and the consolidation of its presence in the various Sectors situated outside Mogadishu, with a view to contributing to the expansion of State authority. In addition, the Mission will continue to work towards consolidating security in the liberated areas.

37. As stressed on numerous occasions, lasting security in Somalia requires that the relevant Somali institutions be endowed with the necessary capabilities. I note with satisfaction the completion of the concept of operations for the empowerment of the Somali security sector. It is now incumbent upon the international community to provide the necessary support to make the Somalis less reliant on outsiders for ensuring security in their country.

38. I would like, once again, to reiterate the African Union's gratitude to the United Nations and to the other bilateral and multilateral partners for their continued support to AMISOM. This support will remain critical in the period ahead, and more so as the Mission expands its operations. The achievements recorded in Somalia were made possible by the judicious combination of African Union and United Nations efforts and respective comparative advantages, with the invaluable support of other partners. Continued unity of purpose and concerted action among all international stakeholders remain critical for consolidating the gains made and achieving further progress.
